

VIDYA PRATISHTHAN'S SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE, BARAMATI

Criterion 7 – Institutional Values and Best Practices (100)

Key Indicator – 7.2. Best Practices (30)

7.2.1. Describe two best practices successfully implemented by the Institution as per the NAAC format provided in the Manual

Response-

Best Practice 01-

1. Title of the Practice-

CALENDAR DESIGN ACTIVITY- A platform to showcase the work of the students of VPSOA

2. Objectives of the Practice-

- a. To encourage students to think outside the box and come up with original and creative designs.
- b. To promote the appreciation of architecture and design among students and the society.
- c. To create a platform to showcase the creativity of primary stakeholders of the institute i.e. Students and Faculties
- d. To provide students with the necessary guidance and resources to design a product other than architecture, in this case an innovative and creative calendar.
- e. To encourage students to explore and experiment with different design techniques and concepts.
- f. To promote skill-led professional development amongst students.

3. The Context-

Vidya Pratishthan's School of Architecture has always been at the forefront of providing students with a platform to explore and develop their creativity. The college has organized a Calendar Design activity, which provides students with a great opportunity to showcase their talent and explore their potential in the areas of graphic design, typography, and illustration. The Calendar Design activity gives students the freedom to express their ideas and create a unique piece of art. The activity is open to all students from different backgrounds and encourages them to create something unique and distinct. The Calendar Design activity provides students with an opportunity to push their creative boundaries and explore their artistic potential. The college believes that this activity will help students to understand the design brief, the ground realities such as deadlines, budgets, collaboration with external agencies involved in printing and collaboration with other students and faculty. By working on a real problem the students learn to respond to real challenges in best possible manner.

4. The Practice-

The institute has been practicing the design of calendars for the past three years to encourage students to explore their creativity, develop artistic skills, innovative thinking, and gain a better understanding of design principles. The designing process starts with choosing a theme for the calendar and announcing the same among the students. Several entries are invited and the best work of the students is shortlisted by a team of faculties led by the Principal. The layout of the calendar is designed by the students which is later reviewed and revised by the team. The final step involves printing the work of the students and faculties. The copies are then distributed to various stakeholders of the institute, chief guests, and eminent personalities visiting the institute.

The activity acts as a catalyst for creating a cohesive and inclusive environment amongst all the stakeholders of the institute and the society.

5. Evidence of Success-

The calendar has been successfully published and appreciated by many eminent personalities.
